THE ELECTIONS.

Yesterday's election was one of the quietest which has occurred in this city for many years. As will be seen by reference to the returns below, the vote cast was a very light one, even lighter than that at the primary election. Last night several of the successful candidates were serenaded by Boden's colored band, accompanied by a crowd of friends, and bonfires were lighted in several parts of the city. The vote in the several wards was as follows:

LATEST.

The returns of the election for county and district officers held throughout Fairfax county on yesterday are all in, and show that Frank Wooster, for Commissioner of Revenue, south side, and Wm. Ayre, jr., Sheriff, present incumbents, are re elected over their independent opponents, Messrs. Hawxhurst and Mohler by large majorities. R. F. Broadwater, for Commissioner of Revenue, north side, is elected over Amos Fox by about 31 majority. The new Board of Supervisors will be a tie, three conservatives and three republicans. The only supervisor who was not re-elected is Mr. R. L. Rotchford, of Lee District, the regular conservative nominee, who was defeated by Frank Davis, independent conservative. The friends of local option were successful in four out of the six districts, including the Providence district.

LOUDOUN COUNTY.

LEESBURG, May 23—The following are the officers elected in this county yesterday: Commonwealth's Attorney, J. W. Foster; Sheriff, James E. Caruthers; Treasurer, J. L. McIntosh; Commissioners of the Revenue, Messrs. Fling, Osburn and Bennett. The independent ticket in the town was chosen, Mr. Geo. Head being elected Mayor over E. L. Powell, and H. O. Clagett over Purdie for Recorder.

Interesting Decision.

Judge James Keith sitting in the Circuit Court for the county, this morning, rendered the following decision in the case of Fowle, Snowden & Co. vs. the A. & W. R R. Co, mentioned in yesterday's Gazette:

In the year 1854 the legislature of Virginia granted a charter to certain persons to build a railroad between the cities of Alexandria and Washington under the name and style of the Alexandria and Washington Railroad Company, and at the same session passed an act authorizing the Washington and Alexandria Turnpike Company to sell a portion of its works to the said railroad company. The A. & W. R R becoming involved in debt Fowle, Snowden & Co. advertised the said road for sale under a deed of trust for their benefit, and thereupon the A. & W. R R. filed a bill in chancery praying that the sale might be enjoined, which was done. Such proceedings were had in this suit that a report of debts and liens against this corporation was filed by commissioner Mushbach at the November term, 1876, of this court. At this stage of the cause a petition was presented by counsel for the Alexandria and Fredericksburg Railway Company praying to be made a party to the cause. The petition sets out that said railway company is a corporation duly chartered and organized under the laws of Virginia; that by virtue of its charter and amendments thereto it was authorized to construct a railway from the city of Alexandria to a point on the Potomac river opposite the city of Washington, near the southern end of the Long Bridge; that acting in pursuance of its charter and the laws of Virginia in such case made and provided proper proceedings had been instituted in the County Court of Alexandria county, which resulted in the condemnation of eight acres and twenty five perches of the land belonging to the Alexandria and Washington Railroad; that in the proceedings in the County Court the petitioner, the Alexandria and Fredericksburg Railway, had been required to make compensation to the A. & W. R. R. Co, which had been paid, and generally that as a result of the proceedings in the County Court, all of which are averred to have been regular, that the Alexandria and Fredericksburg Railway Company had acquired a fee simple title to the eight acres and twenty five perches so condemned.

The petitioner then prays that in any decree of sale which may be made in the suit the rights of the petitioner may be protected as owner in fee of said land. In other words, that the 8 acres and 25 perches to which it claims title may be excepted out of the decree for sale. The relief sought for by the petitioner is resisted on several grounds by the creditors of the A. & W. R. R. I shall notice but one of the objections made, which rests upon the proviso in the act incorporating the Alexandria and Fredericksburg Railway to be found in Acts of Assembly 1869-'70, pages 187 8. It is in these words: "Provided, that in the extension of the said railway it shall in no way interfere with the chartered rights or franchises of any railroad extending between Alexandria and Washington; but this proviso shall not be construed as preventing said Alexandria and Fredericksburg Railway from crossing any such railroad." In the argument of this cause it was conceded, (gratia argumenti:)

1st. That under the laws of Virginia the property rights and franchises in land of corporations are subject to condemnation equally with the lands of individuals.

2d. That condemnation is a judicial proceeding in rem.

3d. That it cannot be attacked collaterally.

These conclusions very materially confine the range of the discussion, and indeed close it except upon one point. It still remains to be seen whether the County Court of Alexandria county had jurisdiction over the subject upon which it pronounced judgment of condemnation. If it had jurisdiction to hear and determine it the controversy is ended, and if it has no such jurisdiction no rights are vested in the petitioner by virtue of its sentence. For as was said by Chief Justice Marshall in Rose vs. Himely, 4 Cranch, 279, "the operation of every judgment must depend upon the power of the Court to render that judgment, or in other words, on its jurisdiction over the subject matter which it has so determined." In considering whether the judgment of a Court was upon a matter within its jurisdiction, it is generally important to determine whether the Court in question was one of general or limited jurisdiction, for there is in this State at least no Court of universal jurisdiction. At the time the judgment now the subject of inquiry was pronounced the County Court was without doubt a Court of general jurisdiction, and with respect to the condemnation of lands for the purposes of a railroad, it was a court of exclusive original jurisdiction in Alexandria county. Being then a court of general jurisdiction it devolves upon those assailing the validity of its judgments for want of jurisdiction to show affirmatively wherein the infirmity consists. For this purpose a judgment is always open to attack whenever and wherever it may be relied upon as the foundation of a right. It is claimed in this case that the judgment condemning a part of the property of the A & W. R. R Co., is a nullity, because the Legislature had in express terms prohibited the petitioner in any manner to interfere with the chartered rights and franchises of the A. & W. R. R. Co. The right of eminent domain, that right by force of which private property is taken for public use resides in the State, and is part of her sovereignty. The exercise of this right is delegated by the State to certain agencies to be exercised in a certain manner for certain objects, and with certain limitations and restrictions. Some of these limitations and restrictions are embodied in the form of general laws but it is entirely competent for the Legislature to impose additional restrictions whenever it may think proper to do so. It may make the restriction applicable alike to all railroads, as in the last clause of sec. 4, chap. 56 of the Code of 1873. It is within the power of the Legislature to authorize a railroad company to build its road within sixty feet of a dwelling house with or without the consent of the owner upon making compensation therefor. But it has not seen fit to do so. It has restricted the power of its agent, the County Court, in this respect, and should the County Court, disregarding this restriction upon its power of condemnation, authorize a railroad to be constructed through a dwelling house or within 60 feet thereof without the consent of the owner thereof, such judgment of condemnation would clearly be inoperative to confer any right upon the corporation, and ineffectual to protect any agent of such corporation from the consequences of his trespass. Here is an instance of a general restriction upon the powers of County Courts, but it is to be observed that the jurisdiction may be enlarged by the consent of the owner of the dwelling house. In sec 24 of the same chapter another restriction is imposed. No company shall occupy with its works the street of any town until the corporate authorities of the town shall have assented to such occupation unless such assent be dispensed with by special provision of law. Here again is a limitation or restriction imposed upon the courts which may be obviated by the consent of the corporate authorities of the town or by the Legislature itself. But suppose the law had said: "No company shall occupy with its works the streets of a town," then it is clear that authority to do so could only have been acquired by express Legislative provision while the inference would have been that the restriction imposed was not for the benefit of the town as a corporation but from motives of policy and for the benefit of the public. It is indeed too obvious for argument.

1st. That the right of eminent domain resides in the State.

2nd. That the State may delegate and has delegated the exercise of that right to certain of her courts.

3rd. That in thus delegating the power, restrictions and limitations have been imposed upon said courts.

4th. That a judgment of said courts disregarding the limitations and restrictions imposed would be in excess of the jurisdiction of the court and to that extent null and void.

5th. That this defect or infirmity in the judgment springing from the want of jurisdiction in the court to pronounce such judgment can always be shown by those whose interest it may be to attack such judgment directly or collaterally.

It only remains then to inquire whether the proviso in the charter granted the petioner, is within the operation of these principles. The Legislature declares by that proviso that the Alex. & Fredericksburg Railway shall in no way interfere with the chartered rights or franchises of any railroad extending between Alexandria and Washington. This language is so broad and clear that I shall not undertake to make it more plain. It will scarcely be seriously contended that entering upon and taking to its own use eight acres of the land belonging to the A. & W. R. R. is not an interference with its chartered rights. If it is not an interference on the part of the Alexandria & Fredericksburg Railway to enter upon the lands of the A. & W. R. R. neither would it be an interference or a trespass by any other person natural or artificial. But the Legislature has placed its meaning beyond all doubt or question by declaring that this power shall not be construed as preventing said Alexandria and Fredericksburg Railway from crossing any such railroad. That is to say, in the opinion of the Legislature, so stringent was the operation of the proviso that, standing alone the A. & F. R W. could not have acquired the power through the courts to so much as cross the track of the A. & W. R. R. To say that the County Court could condemn 8 acres and 25 perches of the A. & W. R. R. running the entire length of this road and vest it in fee simple in the A. & F. R. W. in the face of this proviso, but that the A. & F R. W. could cross the A. & W. R. R only by virtue of a legislative exception to the proviso would be a strange construction. It satisfies me at least that it was not intended that the petitioner should have power to acquire or that the courts should have power to condemn for its use the chartered rights and franchises of the A. & W. R. R It is to be observed also that there is no provision made here for the acquisition of the right by consent of the A. & W. R. R. The owner of a dwelling, we have seen, is protected against proceedings and judgment of condemnation upon him in invitum, and so also are the streets of a town; but the corporate authorities of the town and the owner of the dwelling house may by their consent permit the condemnation of their property for the use of a railroad corporation; but in the proviso under consideration there is no provision made for abrogating the restriction upon the A. & F. R W. by the consent of the A. & W. R. R. The presumption is, that in the case of the owner of the dwelling and the authorities of the town the restriction was imposed for their protection and benefit, and in the case under consideration it was imposed for reasons of public policy. However that may be, I am of opinion that the judgment of the County Court of Alexandria county, which was affirmed on appeal to the Circuit Court of Alexandria county, whereby said court undertook to condemn 8 acres and 25 perches of the land of the Alexandria and Washington R. R. Co. and to vest the same in fee in the petitioner, the Alexandria and Fredericksburg Railway Co, is, for the foregoing reasons, null and void.

CONGRESSIONAL.

Reported for the Alexandria Gazette

WASHINGTON, May 23.

SENATE.

The Senate took up the bill making subsidiary coins exchangeable for lawful money of the U. S., and to make such coins a legal tender in sums up to $20

The committee's amendment to substitute $10 for $20 was discussed. The bill was supported by Messrs. Bayard, Booth, Ferry and Kernan, and opposed by Messrs. Edmunds and Thurman.

The morning hour having expired, the bill went over without action, and the Senate took up the Contagious Disease bill.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

Mr. Atkins, of Tenn., from the Committee on Appropriations reported back the Senate amendments to the Legislative Appropriation bill and stated that he was instructed to move concurrence in all of them. It was hardly necessary, he said, to give the reason for that instruction. There were some of the amendments in which the committee would not, under other circumstances concur, for instance the increase of the salaries of Senate officials to from 20 to 100 per cent. more than the salaries of some of the corresponding employees of the House. This increase amounted to over $45,000 He stated in reply to Mr. Conger that the Senate had made no amendments in the political features of the bill. The amendments were concurred in.

NOMINATIONS.

The President sent to the Senate to day the following nominations of postmasters: Elliott Shurtz at Marshalltown, Iowa, and Samuel W. Chubbuck at Gold Hill, Nev.

☞ PROTECT THE SYSTEM FROM MALARIA. It is possible to do this even in regions of country where miasma is most rife, and where the periodic fevers which it causes assume their most formidable types. The immense popularity of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is very largely attributable to the fact of its efficacy as a remedy for chills and fevers, bilious remittents, and as a preventive of the various forms of malarial disease. In those portions of the West and South where complaints of this nature prevail, and in the Tropics, it is particularly esteemed for the protective influence which it exerts; and it has been very widely adopted as a substitute for the dangerous and comparatively ineffective alkaloid, sulphate of quinine. Physicians have not been among the last to concede its merits, and the emphatic professional indorsements which it has received have added to the reputation it has obtained at home and abroad.

SHOOTING AFFAIR AT CULPEPER.—Under the Virginia News head will be found a brief notice of a shooting affray at Culpeper C. H. yesterday.

A gentleman who arrived here this morning from Culpeper, states that the difficulty which was between D M Ream, editor of the Times, and Philip M. Jones, a well known young man, was caused by a quarrel over the merits of rival candidates The parties fired at each other with no other damage than the placing of a ball in Jones' shoulder. Just at this time G. W. Jamison, who, it is reported, had nothing to do with the quarrel, came up behind Ream and reaching around, shot him in the abdomen, inflicting what is feared will prove a fatal wound.

Jamison was arrested and committed to jail, but succeeded in making his escape last night, and is at large.

CHARGES AND COUNTER CHARGES.—The warrant against George R. Nowland, for interfering with officer James Smith, in the discharge of his duty, in connection with the political meeting, at the corner of King and Columbus streets, as mentioned yesterday's Gazette, came up for trial before the mayor this morning, and after hearing several witnesses, the accused was dismissed for want of evidence. The mayor, however, complimented officer Smith on his efficiency as an officer.

The trial of the complaint of assault and battery against officer Smith, preferred by Nowland, before Justice Thompson, was deferred until a late hour this evening.

MISS AGNES HERNDON.—This beautiful and accomplished young Virginian, who appears to night for the first and only time before an Alexandria audience, in her incomparable impersonations and recitations, should receive a greeting worthy of her, and such as will show that the good people of this old city duly appreciate genius. Miss Herndon has been most enthusiastically received in all of the other cities of the old Dominion—let not Alexandria be behind in paying court to this distinguished daughter of Virginia.

U. S. CERTIFICATES.—The rush of purchasers of the $10 U. S. certificates, at the Custom House, this morning was so great that the crowd became disorderly and the doors had to be closed and the sale of certificates stopped. There seems to be a general desire on the part of the people to buy, and as only $100 worth is sold to each purchaser, persons having money are employing substitutes to secure all they want.

Bonds amounting to $10,000 were received to-day and sold within less than an hour's time.

POLICE REPORT.—Isaac Hackley, colored, for assaulting Ezy Minor, also colored, was fined and discharged, by Justice Padgett.

There were no cases at the Mayor's office this morning.

Justice Thompson had before him two women for disorderly conduct, who were fined and discharged.

SUDDEN DEATHS.—Frank Washington, colored, a member of Boden's band, died rather suddenly, of pneumonia at his house in Devil's Row, yesterday. His funeral, which took place this evening, was attended by the band.

Mr. Magnus Schuler of this city received a telegram from New York to day announcing the sudden death of his mother-in-law

FIRE ALARMS.—There was an alarm of fire about 8.30 o'clock last night, which brought out the entire fire department. It is supposed to have been caused by a bonfire near the Midland depot. The firemen had scarcely returned to their engine houses before there was a second alarm, apparently from the same cause.

HORRIBLE TRAGEDY.—The residents in the neighborhood of Severn, a point on the Baltimore and Potomac Railroad, about ten miles from Baltimore, were greatly excited over a terrible tragedy enacted about a mile from that place about noon on Wednesday. John Stinchcomb, 61 years of age, assassinated his brother, Lewis Stinchcomb, aged 50 years, by shooting him in the back with an old musket while at work in a woods burning charcoal, and then going home, about a half mile distant, declared the horrid deed to his sisters and shot himself dead in their presence, within ten steps of his house, which he had left scarcely an hour before. The difficulty which led to the tragedy was a dispute in regard to the division of a tract of land left the brothers in common with three sisters. A jury of inquest rendered a verdict that "John Stinchcomb came to his death by a gunshot would premeditatedly inflicted by himself." The jury then repaired to the charcoal pit in the woods, about one half a mile distant, where the body of Lewis lay by the side of the kiln, as he had fallen when shot his shovel under him, and a terrible wound from a gunshot penetrating his back, tearing out part of his lungs.

TO THE PUBLIC!—Notwithstanding the strong pressure for "cheaper" goods to which most manufacturers have yielded by lowering both quality and price, I have maintained the highest standard of our product while reducing prices by every legitimate means. The people are tired of "shoddy" clothing, bought only from necessity, and the country's improvement is evidenced by the growing demand for better goods. For the spring of 1879 I have prepared one of the choicest stocks of Stylish Clothing I ever produced, and my prices are as low as the cost of labor and material will permit. Terms cash S.
