

YOUTH DRIVING LOAD OF LIQUOR SHOT BY DANVILLE GUARDS

Dynamiting Continues; Youth Shot by Guards When Rum Auto Refuses to Heed Order

DANVILLE, Va., Dec. 16.—An attempt to pass the cordon of Virginia National Guardsmen thrown across the United States Highway at Schoolfield, four miles from here, led to the shooting and probable fatal wounding of Lockwood Pickett, 24-year-old youth of Forest Hill, N. C., early today.

Young Pickett was wounded in the spine when he attempted to pass through the guards. Treated by Major Henry White, chief of the guard medical service here, he was later removed to Memorial Hospital in a critical condition.

Woman, Liquor Held

An unidentified young woman who accompanied Pickett escaped injury and is being held incommunicado. It was reported that 60 gallons of liquor were found in the car.

Military authorities threw a veil of silence around the shooting and refused to make public any report concerning the affair.

The 800 guardsmen, commanded by Col. Jerome Oye, have been on duty here for several weeks, being ordered out by Governor Pollard to take charges of the strike zone outside the city proper.

With half a dozen dynamitings in the past three days, the guardsmen have been on the alert to trap the dynamiters who are believed to slip over from North Carolina.

All Cars Are Halted

The guards have been stopping all machines at night and searching them for explosives and suspicious persons despite scores of protests from tourists and workmen who are driving home from night work.

This is not the first time that the guardsmen have fired at cars that refused to stop, it is said, but this is the first time that the shots have taken effect.

Pickett, driving through with the load of liquor, is believed to have feared he was being stopped by prohibition agents and sped up his car instead of bringing it to a halt.

Military authorities refuse to say how many shots were fired at the car or who fired them.

One, however, struck the man in the back and the car skidded to a halt.

A military board will be convened to investigate the shooting. All efforts to effect a settlement of the textile strike, now in its twelfth week, have failed.

Despite the statement of Harry Fitzgerald, president of the mills, that he still has the same love for "his people," he has refused to meet with a committee of workers to try and effect a settlement.

Refuses to Meet Them

Anxious to do something to alleviate suffering that the worst cold snap of the winter has brought on, union heads offered to have a committee of workmen meet with the mill heads to discuss conditions.

In response, it was stated curtly by the mill officials that there will be no dealings with the strikers.

At the same time, however, it was indicated that the mill owners are not so sure of winning the strike.

In spite of the appeal from Fitzgerald, few of the strikers returned to work yesterday.

The mill owners declared that 2,000 employees returned, but a check kept by uninterested observers indicated that less than half that number returned to their jobs, only a slight increase over the number that has been working since the strike started.

VETS' MEMORIAL APPROVED IN ARLINGTON

Legion Post Granted Permit Despite Objections Made by Sheriff Fields and Duncan

ARLINGTON, Va., Dec. 16.—Despite opposition on the part of Chairman Edward Duncan, of the board of supervisors, and Sheriff Howard B. Fields, permission was granted to the Arlington Post, No. 139, American Legion, for the erection of a memorial to the veterans of the world war, in a circle on the Wilson Boulevard in Clarendon.

Opposition to the proposed memorial first arose when plans and specifications were presented to the Arlington county board of supervisors at its last meeting, the objectors saying that the memorial would be a menace to traffic at the intersection.

George D. Ricker, commander of the post, pointed out that the memorial would really aid traffic by causing it to keep to the right of the circle and by causing it to slow down in rounding the circle. Mr. Ricker further pointed out that by placing traffic lights on the monument, traffic would be facilitated and the circle, 20 feet in diameter in an 80-foot plaza, would serve as a safety zone for those crossing the street.

The memorial will be five feet square at the base and will rise to a height of 11 feet with a recessed panel on each of the four sides containing a water fountain. It will be constructed of stone and will bear the legion insignia, plans having been completed recently by Kenton Hamaker and A. P. Thelander, architects.
