

Regulations. atuck in said county. The said separate poll shall be conducted according to the rules and regulations prescribed by the several acts of assembly now in force concerning general elections in this commonwealth.

Commencement. 2. This act shall be in force from the passing thereof.

CHAP. 61.—An ACT to change the place of holding a separate election in the county of Rockbridge.

[Passed January 8, 1846.]

Place for holding election in Rockbridge changed.

1. Be it enacted by the general assembly, That the separate poll now authorized to be holden at the house "the residence of John Galbreath, about one mile distant from the former place of holding said separate poll," in the county of Rockbridge, by the act, entitled "an act to change the place of holding a separate election in the county of Rockbridge," passed January the tenth, eighteen hundred and thirty-two, shall be restored to and hereafter holden at the house now the residence of captain Joel Lackland, at the Natural bridge in said county, about a mile or a mile and a half distant from said Galbreath's.

Commencement. 2. This act shall be in force from the passing thereof.

CHAP. 62.—An ACT authorizing a separate election in each of the counties of Russell and Scott.

[Passed January 6, 1846.]

Separate election in Russell county.

1. Be it enacted by the general assembly, That whenever hereafter an election shall be holden in either of the counties hereinafter mentioned, in which all the lawful voters of the county are required to vote, there shall be at the same time a separate poll opened and held for such election, that is to say: In the county of Russell, at the house now the residence of John Dorton, situate on Copper creek in said county. In the county of Scott, at the house now the residence of David Wininger, situate on Opossum creek in said county. And the said separate polls shall be conducted according to the rules and regulations prescribed by the several acts of assembly now in force concerning general elections in this commonwealth.

In Scott county.

Regulations.

Commencement.

CHAP. 63.—An ACT authorizing a separate election at the house of John Beavers in the county of Tazewell.

[Passed January 6, 1846.]

Separate election in Tazewell county.

1. Be it enacted by the general assembly, That whenever hereafter an election shall be holden in the county of Tazewell, in which all the lawful voters of the county are required to vote, there shall be at the same time a separate poll opened and held for such election, at the house now the residence of John Beavers, situate on the Dry fork of Sandy river, in the northern part of said county. And the said separate poll shall be conducted according to the rules and regulations prescribed by the several acts of assembly now in force concerning general elections in this commonwealth.

Regulations.

Commencement.

2. This act shall be in force from the passing thereof.

CHAP. 64.—An ACT accepting by the state of Virginia the county of Alexandria, in the District of Columbia, when the same shall be re-ceded by the congress of the United States.

[Passed February 3, 1846.]

Preamble.

Whereas the general assembly of this commonwealth, on the third day of December, in the year seventeen hundred and eighty-nine, passed an act, entitled "an act for the cession of ten miles square, or any lesser quantity of territory within this state, to the United States, in congress assembled, for the permanent seat of the general government;" and by the said act it was enacted, that "a tract of country not exceeding ten miles square, or any lesser quantity, to be located within the limits of this state, and in any part thereof as congress may by law direct, shall be and the same is hereby forever ceded and relinquished to the congress and government of the United States, in full and absolute right, and exclusive jurisdiction as well of soil as of persons residing or to reside thereon, pursuant to the tenor and effect of the eighth section of the first article of the constitution of the government of the United States." And whereas the congress of the United States did, under the provisions of the said act, locate that portion of the territory of Virginia now known as the county of Alexandria in the District of Columbia, lying south and west of the river Potomac, and bounded by said river and the lines which separate the District of Columbia from Virginia: And whereas the congress of the United States, on the twenty-seventh day of February, in the year eighteen hundred and one, passed an act, entitled "an act concerning the District of Columbia," by the provisions of which act the exclusive jurisdiction of the United States was extended over the territory so located as aforesaid, which territory has since formed a part of the District of Columbia: And whereas a petition has been presented to the general assembly by the citizens residing in said county of Alexandria, representing that they now have pending before the congress of the United States an application for the re-cession of the said county of Alexandria to the commonwealth of Virginia, and praying the consent of the general assembly to such re-cession, and for the passage of a law to give effect thereto, if the same should be granted by congress; and as the prayer of the said petition is deemed reasonable,

1. Be it therefore enacted by the general assembly, That so soon as the congress of the United States shall by law re-cede to the commonwealth of Virginia the said county of Alexandria, and relinquish their exclusive jurisdiction, as well of territory as of persons residing or to reside thereon, the same shall be re-annexed to the said commonwealth, and constitute a portion thereof, subject to such reservation and provisions respecting the public property of the United States, as congress may enact in their act of re-cession.

When county of Alexandria in District of Columbia to be re-annexed to Virginia.

2. Be it further enacted, That the general assembly hereby assents that the jurisdiction and laws of the United States, as well as the rights and privileges of the citizens of said county, and bodies politic and corporate thereof, shall continue in force and be exercised in like manner, and to the same extent, as they now exist, until the general assembly of Virginia shall by law provide for the government of said county under the constitution and laws of this commonwealth.

When jurisdiction of United States to cease.

3. This act shall be in force from the passing thereof.

Commencement.

CHAP. 65.—An ACT establishing the county of Wetzel out of the northern end of the county of Tyler.

[Passed January 10, 1846.]

1. Be it enacted by the general assembly, That so much of the northern part of the county of Tyler as is contained within the following boundary lines, to wit: Beginning on the Ohio river at the lower end of James Peden's (or Paden's) farm, where the lands of said James Peden (or Paden) and Richard Anchrom join; thence a straight line to the north side of the farm now owned by Reuben

Wetzel county created; its boundaries.