EAST TIED UP BY SNOW AND SLEET

Transportation and Wire Communications Badly Crippled

MILES OF POLES DOWN

Rain and Sleet Turn to Snow in New York and Portions of New England at Night.

Washington, Dec. 30.—Sleet and snow crippled transportation and wire communication yesterday throughout the East. The storm moving northward over Louisiana gained in force during the night and yesterday was central over the Ohio Valley.

Rain, sleet and snow were falling throughout most of the eastern part of the country, and as the storm moved north these conditions prevailed last night and will continue Thursday in the region of the Great Lakes, northern New York and northern New England. Rains have been general throughout the Gulf, South Atlantic and Middle Atlantic states, being heavy in the East Gulf states, Tennessee, the Carolinas and Georgia.

Storm warnings were ordered up by the Weather Bureau along the Atlantic Coast, from Key West, Florida, to Eastport, Maine. No damage to shipping was reported.

Dispatches from points on the Gulf coast tell of considerable damage from wind and rain. Alabama, Georgia, Indiana, Ohio, and other sections report loss and inconvenience from the element.

New York, Dec. 30.—The winter's third blizzard struck this city yesterday, prostrating telephone and telegraph wires in all directions. It started with heavy rain in early morning, followed by sleet, and last night it was snowing all over the state. New Jersey and New England.

Pittsburgh, Dec. 30.—Heavy drafts of men and materials were sent from Pittsburgh, late yesterday in answer to call for help from the storm-ridden East. The Bell Telephone Company had a special train with linemen and engineers for Philadelphia over the Pennsylvania and the railroad itself sent all the extra men it could find in this territory.

Reports received by the railroad here indicated that for 40 miles between Christiansburg and Atglen almost every pole was down or leaning dangerously, while for eight miles between Atglen and Gap, not a pole was left standing. All poles on the north side of the Harrisburg yards went down during the day and those on the south side were not considered safe.

Waynesboro, Pa., Dec. 30.—A cyclone-like storm swept over a section of Waynesboro yesterday morning and did considerable damage. The worst damage was on North Grant street, where many telephone poles of the Bell company were broken off, carrying down with them 50 trunk line wires that connect Waynesboro with Chambersburg, Harrisburg, Blue Ridge Summit, Gettysburg and Shipensburg.

For a distance of a mile from this city to Prices Church, every pole was blown down and along the State road toward Ringgold, Md., considerable damage also was done. In the Blue Ridge summer resort section at Pen-Mar, Cascades, Highfield and Blue Ridge Summit a number of trees were blown down.

Uniontown, Pa., Dec. 30.—A gale which blew 65 miles an hour swept Fayette county yesterday doing immense property damage and fatally injuring Frank Moser, who was caught under a falling tree. Many buildings were unroofed, including a distillery at Connelville, and miles of wires were prostrated.

Lorain, O., Dec. 30.—The steel lake freight steamer, Capt. Thomas Wilson, 7,000 tons, owned by the Wilson Transit Company of Cleveland, was battling against the blizzard yesterday somewhere on Lake Erie. The ship, with a crew of 20, left Buffalo late yesterday afternoon for this port to lay up for the winter and was due yesterday forenoon, but had not reached here at 2 p. m.

Columbus, O., Dec. 30.—A storm carrying with it sleet, rain and snow, held Ohio in its grasp yesterday. All means of wire communication were prostrated.

Baltimore, Dec. 30.—One of the most disastrous storms that has swept this section of the country for some time passed out over the ocean at noon yesterday to spend its fury on the waters. At noon it was centered over Cape Hatteras. No rain was reported at that time, but the winds were high. As the storm passed off the coast it left in its wake wreckage, a tangle of telephone and telegraph wires and a damage high in the thousands.

Telephone communication by overhead wires between this city, Philadelphia and New York was severed at noon yesterday. At 3 o'clock in the afternoon there were but two cables, those of the underground system, connecting this city with New York. All telephonic communication with the West was severed early yesterday morning, and the local telephone company would accept no calls for Pittsburgh, and other points to the West.

Telegraph wires of the railroads were laid low by the sleet that caked upon them and bore them down.

While the storm was not felt so severely in the city, throughout the state, particularly the Western part, the damage to wires was heavy.

Philadelphia, Dec. 30.—A stiff northeast gale, accompanied by driving rain, caused one death and considerable destruction in Philadelphia and vicinity yesterday. The principal damage was done to the telegraph wires leading into the city, which were torn down in all directions, partially cutting off communication for many hours.

The velocity of the wind and the heaviness of the downpour caused the death of Frank McGinty, a night watchman, who was unable to see where he was going when he crossed Market street, above Fifteenth, early yesterday morning, and walked directly in the path of an automobile. The car struck the watchman and rolled him over several times. He died two hours later from a fractured skull.

SECOND AMERICAN NOTE

Believed in Geneva That a Rupture With Austria Is Imminent

Geneva, Dec. 30.—The latest information received by the Swiss press from Vienna states that Austrian officials are opposed to the acceptance of the second American Ancona note unless it is modified, and a rupture of diplomatic relations is believed to be imminent, notwithstanding the strong opposition of the liberal and Hungarian parties and diplomats, who demand that an agreement shall be reached with Washington.

The reply to the first American Ancona note, it is declared, was drafted in Berlin. Such pressure was brought to bear on Austria that both Count Tisza and Baron Burian, who favored a policy of conciliation, had their hands forced, and, therefore, it is claimed that the question more directly concerns Berlin than Vienna.

It is considered that there still is a possibility of an agreement within the next 24 hours, but if the situation comes to a rupture of diplomatic relations, not only Vienna, but Berlin, will be affected.

PAN-AMERICAN INSTITUTE.

International Court for Western Hemisphere Is Probable.

Washington, Dec. 30.—A Pan-American institute of international law to prepare the groundwork upon which to build an international court for the Western Hemisphere will result from the joint meetings of the section on international law of the Second Pan-American Scientific Congress and the American Institute of International Law.

From the opening session of the congress, at which Secretary Lansing expressed the hope that the united power of the American republics would be available for their mutual protection against aggression from overseas, this has been the one big probable development of a tangible nature expected from the congress.

The proposal probably will be given definite form in the session today on international law.

ENGAGEMENT IN ADRIATIC SEA

Ships of the Allies Defeat Austrian Fleet Off Durazzo

ONE BOAT IS BLOWN UP

Italian and French Vessels Met Enemy Who It Is Said Was Bent Upon Bombarding Durazzo.

Paris, Dec. 30.—The Austrian destroyer Littorina was blown up by a mine and the destroyer Triglav sunk in a naval action with an allied squadron in the Adriatic off Durazzo, the ministry of marine announced today.

"An Austrian squadron left Cattaro to bombard Durazzo and encountered an allied squadron, which gave battle," said the official communiqué.

"The Austrian destroyer Littorina was blown up by a mine and the destroyer Triglav was sunk. The other enemy ships fled."

The destroyer Triglav was built in 1913, displaced 787 tons, and was 266 feet long. She was one of the newest of the Austrian destroyers, had a speed of 32.5 knots and carried a crew of about ninety men.

Naval lists mention no Austrian destroyer named the Littorina. It is probable that the destroyer Littorina is meant. The Littorina, like the Triglav, is one of six new destroyers put into service by Austria shortly before the beginning of the war.

Presumably Italian and French warships participated in the naval battle. French war craft have been patrolling the Adriatic since the outbreak of the war.

ALLEGED GERMAN BASE

German Submarines Said to Be Put Together in Philippines

Manilla, Dec. 30.—To forestall an outbreak similar to the one which marked Christmas eve last year, the police raided a number of houses in Manila and the suburbs and were rewarded by the capture of the making of a fine little revolution. Seditious documents, flags of the secret Filipino Society of the Katipunan, and seals and commissions issued by the rebel officers, fell in to the hands of the minions of the law.

Numerous arrests were made. There is believed by well-informed Americans to be a widespread movement on foot, backed by the followers of Artemio Ricarte, who on several prior occasions has been a thorn in the side of the insular government. The Harrison administration is doing its best to prevent the extent of the unrest from becoming known, but those who are familiar with present conditions place little credence in its hopeful statements.

To add to the seriousness of the situation, it is known that consuls of the Allies here have notified the government that submarines are being shipped piecemeal to Manila by the Germans, with the evident intention of putting them together and using some part of the islands for a base from which to prey upon their enemies' shipping in the China Sea and nearby Pacific. There are numerous out of the way harbors in the islands, which would furnish an ideal base for such operations, well sheltered from the eye of the casual observer.

COXEY FOR CONGRESS.

Would Issue Bill in Currency for Merchant Marine and Defense.

Columbus, O., Dec. 30.—Jacob S. Coxe, wealthy manufacturer of Massillon, O., who led the Army of the Commonwealth to Washington in 1894, outlined yesterday plans for his campaign as an independent candidate for United States senator from Ohio, to succeed Senator Pomeroy next year. He said he would run on a platform demanding that Congress authorize issue of $1,000,000,000 legal tender currency, half of which is to be used in creating a merchant marine and half for naval equipment or coast defenses.

CARLIN ASKS CHANGE GERMANY WOULD SETTLE ISSUE

New Road Bearing His Name Asked to be Given Another—Honor Duly Appreciated

Representative Charles C. Carlin has written a letter to Edward Duncan, chairman of the board of supervisors of Alexandria county, asking them to reconsider their recent decision to name the new road between Alexandria and Washington "Carlin Avenue." This action was taken by the board at its November meeting in appreciation of the work Mr. Carlin has done to secure the new boulevard.

Mr. Carlin states his reasons for asking the board not to name the new road after him in the following letter:

December 27, 1915.
Edward Duncan, Esq., Chairman,
Board of Supervisors, Alexa. Co.,
Route 2, Alexandria, Va.

My dear Mr. Duncan:—

I have previously written you, expressing to the Board of Supervisors my appreciation for giving the new road my name, but, upon reflection, it has occurred to me that it would be better to give it some other name. I do not think it wise to memorialize living persons, and as I expect to ask the Congress of the United States to widen this road and to maintain it, in accordance with the plans and purposes of the Mount Vernon Avenue Association, and also to construct a memorial bridge across the Potomac River which will connect with this avenue, I feel that I would be embarrassed in my work and efforts if the road were to bear my name. For these reasons, although I feel honored by the resolution passed by your Board, I prefer that the road should be given another name, and will therefore ask you to see that this is done.

With the compliments of the season,
I am,
Sincerely yours,
C. C. CARLIN.

ARMY EXTENDS THANKS

The Salvation Army through its local representatives Lieut. C. Fraser and Envoy Curtis, wish to thank their many friends in the city who so generously responded to their appeal, and thus made it possible for the Salvation Army to give a Christmas tree and treat to 300 children and young people at the hall 204 King street, on Monday evening.

A large crowd filled the hall, many standing during the service. A fine program of songs and recitations was given by the Army Sunday school under the leadership of Mr. G. Robey, assisted by the teachers, prayer by the Envoy, Scripture lesson and addresses of welcome by Lieut. C. Fraser put the right spiritual tone to the proceeds in the true Army spirit and way. All were pleased to welcome Cadet Thomas Noble, from Washington, D. C., who came over to assist in the entertainment and who was always at the place and spot where help was needed the most. A surprise came when Mr. Laudus as Santa Claus appeared and the distribution of the gifts took place. Many children's hearts were filled with joy and gladness that evening, they would not have known of it had not been for the Army efforts.

The officers in charge extend hearty thanks to the many ladies who generously gave of time and personal service in preparing for the tree and treat, doing the many endless things that has made the Salvation Army's first Christmas here in Alexandria a glorious success.

DEATH OF MRS. STUART

Mrs. Rosalie E. Stuart, died last night at her home, "Cedar Grove," King George County, Va. She was 80 years old. She was the widow of Doctor Stuart, a brother of the late Albert, Charles E., Douglass and Harold Stuart, of Alexandria.

WILL RELEASE GERMAN

France Will Accede to Demand of the United States

Washington, Dec. 30.—France will accede to the demand of the United States for the release of the six Germans and Austrians taken by the French cruiser Des Cartes from the American steamers plying between New York and Porto Rico.

Although a formal reply has not been received from the French government, the intentions of the Paris foreign office have been communicated informally to United States Ambassador Sharp, and transmitted by him to Washington. The State Department has been informed that one of the German citizens has already been released.

Although the department has been given to understand that France will comply with the demands, it is not known whether she will formally subscribe to the contention of the United States that no right exists under international law for the seizure of enemy subjects from neutral ships. This contention is based particularly on the decision in the Trent affair against the action the United States warship which seized the Confederate commissioners Mason and Slidell from the British vessel Trent.

Ambassador Sharp states in his report to the State Department that the French admiralty has been waiting until it could get a full report from the commander of the Des Cartes before making a formal reply.

In the case of August Piepenbrink, a German applicant for American citizenship, who was seized last year by a French cruiser from the American steamer Windber, France and Great Britain, to both of which countries the United States addressed a demand for the release of the man, acquiesced, but stated that the demand was granted out of friendship for the United States. Both countries reserved to themselves the right to dispute the American contentions.

WILSON TO URGE A COMMISSION

Will Prepare Special Message to Congress Upon His Return

ANTI-DUMPING CLAUSE

Barrier to German Dye Stuffs One of First Steps Proposed in Plan to Protect Industries.

Washington, Dec. 30.—Realizing that the European war will be followed by many readjustments in industry and commerce of the whole world and that these readjustments will result in many radical stages in the tariff schedules of Europe, President Wilson immediately on his return to Washington will begin the preparation of a special message to Congress on this subject and will urge the creation of a tariff commission by this Congress.

This message will also take up the question of protecting American industries organized since the war by the imposition of an anti-dumping clause. The administration finds itself opposed to placing a tariff on dyestuffs. It is proposed to substitute the anti-dumping clause and prevent Germany from dumping dyestuffs on the United States to the injury of the infant industry.

In his message, President Wilson will make as the basis of his argument for a tariff commission the necessity for study or the conditions abroad that will follow the war. He will say that at no time has a scientific study of the tariff been so necessary to Congress and the business men, as any tariff law or changes to be made by this country will have to be based upon the schedules of European countries.

Inasmuch as the administration and influential men in all parties favor a tariff commission, there is every reason to believe that this congress will enact a law creating such a body. For more than 60 years the tariff has been a source of constant friction between government and business. This has been due chiefly to the fact that when a tariff policy has been determined, Congress, in endeavoring to apply such policy, has been involved in controversy over the facts of industry and commerce. These facts have never been, except in a very few instances, ascertained authoritatively.

Thoughtful business men of all shades of opinion are rapidly coming to realize that the only way of authoritatively ascertaining such facts is through the efforts of a permanent, nonpartisan tariff commission. There never was a time, business men say, when a tariff commission was more necessary for the national welfare than at present. The European war has already led to many important changes in international trade. It will have its greatest economic effects after the war has ceased. The industrial and commercial competitors of the United States will then be forced to enter upon new schemes of taxation, new tariff policies, new plans for foreign trade. All these departures will be based on accurate knowledge of commercial conditions. The United States will be forced to follow their example. Business men must know these facts of industry and they can be determined only by a commission of this kind.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC.

On the morning of January 1st, 1916, there will be an extra train leave Alexandria for Washington at 12:30 a. m., and also an extra train leave Washington for Alexandria at 1:15 a. m.
