After the war, the Army Signal Corps headquarters was established there. treasurer-elect Colin C.

MacPherson appeared before the board in connection with the amount of bond he will be required to post when he assumes office on January 1. After discussion of current and proposed bond issues, and anticipated tax revenue. It was concluded that the treasurer would probably be required to handle approximately $16,000,000 during the next year.

Mr. MacPherson is to confer with Mr. Graham Bennett, Virginia Commissioner of Accounts, in Richmond today. The treasurer, under state law, is required to be bonded for 15 percent of the total county funds which are entrusted to his custody each year. Citizens Committee

Mrs. E. Lee, 1626 South 11th Street, Arlington. Subject—Recreation center. We would like very much to have a recreation center out here. There's only place here now but it doesn't have the facilities to provide recreational activity at night.

Mrs. Jesse A. Pollard, 1314 South Poe Street, Arlington. Subject—Rain trouble. Whenever we have a large rainfall out here, we can't get out of our house because of the flood on the side of the house. We have to get through the neighbors yard in order to get to the street. I don't know for sure what the cause of this is but I know the County has some kind of a pipe out here and it's clogged, I think the County is quite capable of clearing up the situation without, too much expense.

Benjamin F. Cole, 1709 South 13th Road. Subject—Illness. I have been ill for the past couple of weeks and I just don't have anything on my mind right now.

Mr. Clifford R Stears, 1111 South Oxford Street, Arlington. Subject—Government scandals. I think the recent expose of corrupt government officials is something that the public should greatly appreciate. The publicizing of the corruption should awaken the people about their government, and should also awaken those people who appoint irresponsible officials to such responsible jobs. Non-

Partisans Celebrate Dean's Election Tonight

The Arlington will celebrate the election of Alan L. Dean to the County Board in the November 6 election at a "Victory Dinner" tonight. The dinner will be held at the Lyon Village Community House at 6:30 p.m. Mr. Dean and County Board member Robert W. Cox will be the principal speakers. The evening's program will be based on the theme—"Where Do The Non-Partisans of Arlington Go From Here."

Joseph C. Wheeler, Non-Partisan campaign chairman in the recent election, will preside. The Non-Partisans elected one of their two County Board candidates in the November 8 balloting and this victory enabled them to retain their majority on the board. Mr. Dean, Mr. Cox and incumbent member, Daniel A. Dugan will compose this majority. Mrs. Florence Cannon, Non-Partisan and current chairman of the board, was not a candidate in the general election. T. Oscar Smith, the other Non-Partisan candidate was defeated in the hard-fought race.

Today's Mews In Brief Both Sides Halt Ground Fighting In Korea

SEOUL (ff) —Both sides in the Korean War quit the ground fighting today. UN frontline troops first were given an order not to fire at the Reds unless attacked. Now word has spread that the Communists also have stopped ground action. West Waits For Red Decision On Disarmament

PARIS (UP) —The West is waiting to learn whether Russia will agree to the latest disarmament proposal. Britain, France and the United States already are agreed to meet with the Kremlin in private talks, but Russia's Vishlriky hasn't indicated whether the Reds will go along. The idea for Big Four conferences came from smaller nations trying to break the East-West arms deadlock. Caudle Tells Of Pressure In Tax Cases

WASHINGTON (Jf) —T. I. Caudle testified today that members of Congress and other influential persons put tremendous pressures on him to drop prosecution of tax offenders. Caudle told House investigators that he received such requests continuously while he was head of the Justice Department's Tax Division. The former assistant attorney general didn't name any of those he said tried to influence him.

Rev. Glass Will Go To Louisville

Rev. White To Be President Of Association

Rev. Harvey Glass, pastor of the Trinity Presbyterian Church and president of the Arlington Ministerial Association, announced at yesterday's meeting, held at the Arlington Hospital, that he has accepted a call to a pastorate at Louisville, Ky. Dr. M. Jackson White, pastor of Clarendon Baptist Church, who is currently vice-president of the association, will assume the presidential post on January 1. Rev. Glass said that he will become pastor of Crescent Hill Presbyterian Church in Louisville. Rev. George H. Vount, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church was elected to serve as vice president, succeeding Rev. White on January 1. Hospital Administrator John Andenen, gave the association members a report on the hospital's future planning. He said that the architect is preparing the plans for the new wing to the hospital and that it is hoped to break ground for the addition by approximately April 1. Mr. Anderson said that future plans also include a nurses' home. The association passed a resolution designating Sunday, January 20, as "Arlington Hospital Day;" and that ministers will take that opportunity to fully explain the hospital's program and planning.

Applications For Police Chief Post Being Received

Applications for the position of Arlington police chief will be received from county policemen until noon Monday, County Manager A. T. Lundberg announced today.

Arlington has been without a police chief Since March 1, when H. L. IY° d y« rd retired. Mr. Lundberg requested all 14 captains, lieutenants and sergeants on the Arlington Police Force either to apply or file a statement to the effect that they do not wish to apply. The appointment of a police chief has been awaited since Public Safety Plrector Carlisle Johnstone took office May i. Mr. Lundberg stated at that time that Mr. Johnstone would be allowed from three to six months to make a recommendation from an appointment. The six months expired November 1.

A ruling by Arlington Circuit Judge Walter T. McCarthy earlier this year over-ruled the action of the County Board In taking the power to appoint a police chief away from the county manager.

Johnson Opposes Williams, Dean In Debate On Business Tax Increase In Arlington

, v By JIM HATrtiva Robert J. Johnson, managing director of the Arlington Chamber of Commerce, took on two opponent* in speaking against an increase in county business taxes Ift a round table discussion last night. Speaking in favor of an increase before the Columbia Pike Citizens Association at Patrick Henry Elementary School were Non-Partisan County Board member-elect Alan LI Dean and Harley M. Williams, delegate to the Arlington Civic Federation from the Columbia Pike association, Mr. Johnson maintained business taxes should be on profits Instead of gross receipts and said Arlington business already is paying a disproportionate share of taxes hi view of services business receives from the county. Elghty-one percent of Arlington's taxes come from real estate, but about 92 per cent of the county government Income goes to services for Teal property, Mr. Johnson said. Business pays It per cent of the taxes, but costs only about seven pei cent of the county revenue, he said. Mr. Dean answered that it is customary everywhere for business to pay taxes more than it receives in services, because business has the ability U> pay. Mr. Williams said business is making money from the present Inflation, while the government worker-home owner has a fixed income. Mr. Johnson's opponents pointed out thef Arlington's business taxes are loy.-cr than in the major Virginia cities. The Arlington tax rate is 12 cents per SIOO gross receipts, compared to a 29-cent rate in nearby Alexandria, Mr. Dean stated. Arlington real property tastes have Increased 1M per cent in the past six years, Mr. Williams said.

Mayor Of Herndon Resigns; McDaniel Named Successor Marshall A. Martin, Sr., has resigned as mayor of the toWn of Herndon in Fairfax County. He said he resigned because of his physician's reeommnsdation and because of "lack of cooperation" of the town council. John B. McDaniel, senior member of the council and cashier of the Citixens National Bank of Herndon, was appointed Martin's successor hi a special session of the council Saturday. Homer R. Stutsman was appointed to fill McDaniel's seat on the eouneltMartin said the council had been holding closed meetings on the matter and hadn't invited him"I don't want to continue in office with such a lack of cooperation," ha said, all day August 9 and arrived at her desk, on time the day following the birth of the twins. Her coworkers said she had told them she hud a tumor.

First to become suspicious was Mrs. Geotge Davis, Miss Beverage's landlady, who said she heard a baby crying in the latter's apartment on the night of August 9 and called op the stairway to ask if anything was wrong. Mrs. Davis told police Miss Beverage answered tliat the cries were made by. a girl friend'/ haby.

But Mrs. Davis called police the next morning when she entered Miss Beverage's apartment with fresh linen and found' blood in both the living room ami bedroom. Police found the babies in a suitcase in a closet They said Miss Beverage identified a serviceman as the babies' father. The girl has been free under $1,500 bond.

A partner for Mr. Johnson could not be otalned for last night's discussion, In which Boris S. Yane, president of the association, was moderator.

Byrd Says Government

To Collapse, Unless Honesty Forthcoming

RICHMOND, — (UP)— Senator Harry -F. Byrd says the federal government will collapse from within unless there Is "honesty In government." Speaking before the Automotive Trade Association In Richmond last night, Byrd traced "moral deterioration" in government agencies in the past few years. He said the country needs "leadership characterised by unselfish patriotism."

Step Urged By School Board

Summer-Time Kindergarten Discussed

By JOE KLIPFLE

While the Arlington CountyBoard was considering the matter at another meeting, the School Board last night instructed School Superintendent William E. Early to "protect the Interests" of the school system In the event Arlington Hall Is declared n surplus federal installation.

Mr. Early was asked to investigate the possibility of acquiring the 92-acre tract for Junior college use, should the government move to dispose of it after security Installations there are moved to Fort Knox. . .

Earlier in the meeting at Stratford Junior High School, the board informally discussed junior - college programs in Virginia and elsewhere with Dr. William B. Wood, a- junior college specialist of the U. S Office of Education. Dr. Wood told the Board there la no junior college operated by a school board in Virginia, but that such schooia have been successfully directed by public boards In other parts of the country. He said a local junior college should be "tailored" by the people of Arlington County to fit the educational needs of its post-high school students.

Kindergarten, at the opposite end of the educational leader, also came in for discussion. Mr. Early asked the School Board if It desired that a study be made to "ascertain the feelinga of the county" toward a summer-time kindergarten. He said school administrators had been giving thought to the possibility of a 60-day kindergarten In the summer months to be offered on a voluntary basis as a pre-school induction program. Board members asked Mr. Early for more information on the subject.

The board passed a resolution requesting the County Board to take action waiving the customary building permit fees now charged for all school construction. The action was taken on the. recommendation of Mr. Early, who said the fees (cost the school system several thousand dollars annually.

Board members voted to hold their regular Dec. 8 meeting in the school system's n#w administration building near WashingtonLee High Schools, and to change the date of Its second December meeting from Christmas night to [he morning of uecemoer 22.

3-Yr. 'Fair Test' Recommended For County School 'Core' Course

A "fair test" of three year* for Arlington's controversial 'core' course was recommended by Dr, Blake Root, assistant professor of education in charge of student education at George Washington University, at a meeting of the Organized Women Voters of Arlington yesterday. Dr. Root said that the County's "core" teachers were excellent but young and inexperienced. "It will take three years before the course can be fairly tested,' he said. At the invitation of the OWV. Dr. Root was a member of a discussion panel on the subject of "core." Others were William W. Rich, County supervisor of the puntor high schools, and Mrs. Elisabeth Campbell, member of the School Board and teacher of Latin. Mrs. Charles Goode was moderator.

Mrs. Campbell emphasised that "core" had been worked out Ini

Text Of Letter Disapproving Bond Issue

The Eastern Investment Banking Voluntary Credit Restraint Committee, after individual review by. Its members, has disapproved the proposed Arlington Countybond issue of $882,000 for the purchase of land for parks and playgrounds. The text of the committee's letter, addressed to Henderson H. Miller who is the New York bond consultant to the County Board and signed by G. Morgan Browne, secretary, follows:

"Reference is made to your Inquiry relative to the appropriateness under the Voluntary Credit Restraint Program of an issue of $3,582,000 of bonds which Arlington County proposes to offer on December G.

"The members of this contmittee individually have reviewed this inquiry and It is the informal opinion of a majority of them that the offering of $1,318,000 of bonds for thei Improvement and extension of streets and highways; and the offering of $1,382,000 of bonds in connection with the extension and improvement of the storm sewer system is in harmony with the principles of the program. However, it is the informal opinion of a majority of them that the proposed borrowing or issuance of bonds to the extent of $882,000 for the acquisition of land for additional parks and playgrounds does not appear to be in harmony with the principles of the program."

Republicans Will Hear Hermann; Honor Electees

A. B. Hermann, executive assistant to the chairman of the GOP National Committee, will address Arlington Republicans Friday night at the Washington Golf and Country Club. He will speak at a 7 p.m. dinner-dance at which the Republicans will honor their two newly-elected county officials. The guests of honor will be Colin C. MacPherson, new County Treasurer, and Robert A. Peck, new County Board member. Both will take Office on January 1. Entertainment for the evening will feature a half hour show by the "Vikings" who will come to Arlington from New York where they star on the Arthur Godfrey and Milton Berle television shows. Jack Morton's orchestra will provide the dance music.

Republicans and those interested in the Republican Party may obtain reservations from Clifford W. Perrin, Committee Chairman, 3660 N. Vermont St, according to an announcement made by I. Lee Petter, GOP County Chairman.

detail by the teachers and was not a casual program. She said the course was intended to children who learn time when they are happy learning. Mr. Rich said that the subjects that are taught were not changed, only the method of teaching. "We give the youngster something to say, then teach him how to say it," he said.

The "core" course combines English and social studies into one combination course in the County junior high schools. Some parents have expressed opposition to the course.

Officers of the OWV were elected before the panel discussion was held. Those elected were: Mrs. Leons Bucholz, president; Mrs. Edith Weston, vice president; Mrs. Nell Henderson, recording secretary; Mrs. Mildred Nickson, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Margaret Tapp, treasurer.

$882,000 Issue Delayed

Board To Appeal Turned Down By Restraint Group

By MAX L. SPEAY

Progressive action on Arlington County's Six-Year Improvement Program will result from the sale of two bond issues totaling $1,700,000 on December 12. Bids for the bonds will be opened at 11 a.m. on that date at the Courthouse. The County Board, meeting in a recessed session at the Courthouse last night, authorized the sale of one issue for $1,318,000 for the improvement and extension of streets and highways; and a second issue of $1,382,000 in connection with the extension and improvement of the county's storm sewer system. The board also voted to appeal to the Eastern Investment Bank's Voluntary Credit Restraint Committee for a formal hearing to fully present the case. The board is considering the proposed $800,000 bond issue for purchases of land for parks and playgrounds. All three bond issues had been submitted to the committee for review prior to offering the bonds on the originally-scheduled date of December 8. The committee gave an informal opinion, held that the bonds for the streets, highway and storm sewers were in line with the principles of the Voluntary "Credit Restraint Program," but informed the board that the proposed issue of bonds for purchase of park and playground land was not in harmony with the program. Henderson H. Miller, the board's New York bond consultant, explained that, while the committee, set up under the Defense

Pfogiection Act of 1980, has no official authority, bonding firms are very reluctant to purchase any heads disapproved by the voluntary committee. Criticism of the committee's opinion was expressed by the four board members present Mrs. Florence Cannon, chairman, Alfred F. Friddle, Daniel A. Dugan and Robert W. by Berntram M. Gross, vice chairman of the Arlington Planning Commission and chairman of the Six-Year Improvement Program Committee. The consensus of opinion was that the committee did not have the full details concerning the proposed $882,000 bond issue that in viewing the proposed individually the committee members may have formed the notion that the money was to be used to build gymnasiums, swimming pools, etc.; and that the committee member* were not fully aware that the funds were to be used to purchase land for parks and playground grounds which "will probably be gobbled up for commercial residential use, and that it was a "now or never" situation. Mr. Gross pointed out that the committee's opinion did not seem to be in line with the fact; received by the county last summer from Defense Major Charles E. Wilson, which indicated that borrowing for "construction of recreation facilities" should be restrained. Upon motion by Mr. Dugan and a second by Mrs. Cannon, the board moved to request the committee to grant a full hearing for the total membership for a reconsideration of the opinion; and to assure the committee that the money derived from the bond issue would be used to purchase land and not to construct park and playground facilities. Mr. Friddle pointed out that the City of Arlington had approved the proposed bond issue even though the bond funds would be used for the purchase of the land could have been used for ground and park purposes.
