

DAVID L. KRUPSAW
... predicts water ban

RALPH KAUL
... need planning

Higher Tax Advocates Nominated By ABC

By LYNN C. MITCHELL

Two proponents of higher taxes to take care of Arlington needs more quickly and adequately were elected on the first ballot to represent the ABC political coalition last night at Wakefield School.

Elected were David L. Krupsaw, president of the District American Bedding Co. and general manager of American Wholesalers, and Ralph Kaul, president of a consultant firm on building and land development in Washington.

Both candidates expressed opposition to a sales tax while Mr. Krupsaw predicted another period of rationed water because the present Board has "done too little too late."

A total of 589 votes were reported cast and 295 were needed to win. Mr. Krupsaw led with 330 votes with Mr. Kaul a close second with 328.

Failing in the bid to win ABC nominations were Spencer M. Smith with 289, Leo Urbanske Jr., with 132 and Karl G. Sorg with 99.

Also last night ABC (Arlingtonians for a Better County) moved without dissent to meet again if any remaining County Board seats need to be filled later this year or in 1956.

When the election results were announced by Ivan A. Booker, an unsuccessful Non-Partisan Board candidate last year, the defeated candidates all urged support of Mr. Kaul and Mr. Krupsaw.

Support was also pledged by Kirkley S. Coulter, one of three ABC co-chairmen, who on Monday had criticized Mr. Urbanske's bid for the nomination due to the latter's past position as chairman of the Arlington Democratic Executive Committee. Mr. Urbanske resigned the post when he announced his candidacy.

Before the ballots were cast Mr. Kaul stated that he would withdraw as a candidate for the Democratic Executive Committee if nominated.

Mr. Krupsaw, who was introduced by Mrs. Kathryn H. Stone, Democrat member of the House of Delegates, remarked that he felt the present County Board reduced the proposed school budget too much. But he also pointed out that the school budget as approved by the board represents an increase of $800,000 over the current years.

A homeowner at 1057 S. 26th Road, Mr. Krupsaw, along with the other candidates, said he felt that taxes can be raised to meet county needs but that he would be opposed to a sales tax.

When the candidates were asked their position in relation to the proposed kindergarten program, Mr. Krupsaw replied that he would do everything possible to see that "revenues are raised to support all reasonable requests."

At the same time he said that the School Board budget should not be "rubber-stamped."

Mr. Kaul was nominated by Allan Dean, former member of the County Board, and seconded by John D. Schroeder, Young Republican National Committeeman of Virginia.

Mr. Kaul, a home-owner (he built his own home 14 years ago) at 1201 N. Nash Street, criticized present County Board actions in the areas of zoning, parking, land acquisition and schools.

On the ever-important school issue, he said that he felt the AIM-dominated County Board has been insensitive to the school program.

In particular, he said that the Arlington Independent Movement has been injecting itself into functions that belong to the School Board.

The ABC candidates will oppose those to be selected by AIM at a date yet to be announced. AIM will also face the School Board Nominating Convention in the race for three seats on the school body.

On the kindergarten question (in effect, the question asked the candidates to state whether they would favor kindergartens next year) Mr. Kaul replied that the County Board should provide as much revenue as possible for the school program.

Mr. Schroeder, in seconding the nomination for Mr. Kaul, said that as a Young Republican National Committeeman, "I believe that I can speak for a large segment of the middle-of-the-road Republicans of Arlington when I say that I believe that Ralph Kaul is the type of man who would receive wholehearted support from the Republicans of our ABC coalition."

He added that "With two too many rabble-rousers on the County Board at the present time, I as a middle-of-the-road Republican ask you for a home to go in this election."

Although he did not mention their names Mr. Schroeder was obviously speaking against George M. Rowzee Jr., County Board chairman, and Robert A. Peck, both elected on Republican tickets and severe critics of the School Board when they feel excessive demands are being asked in the school budget.

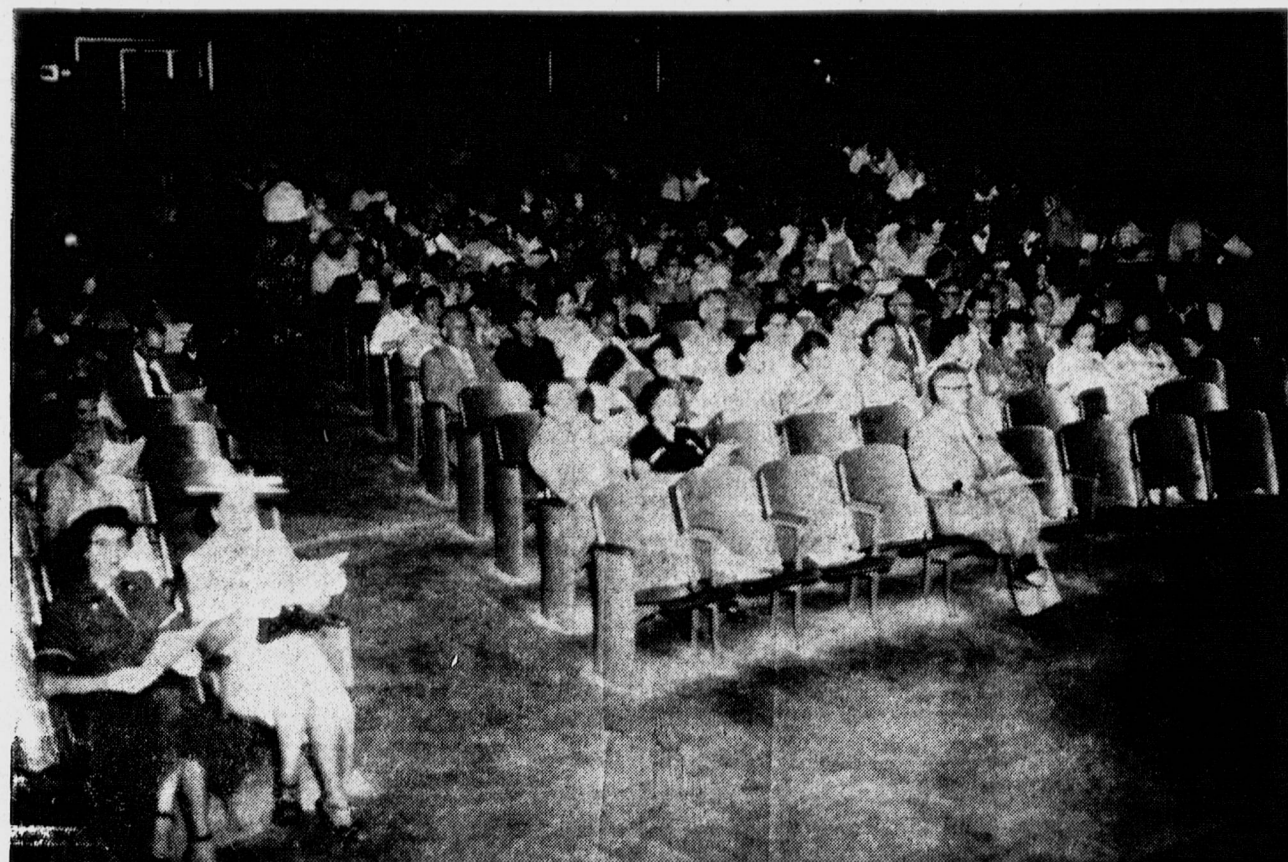

Mr. Krupsaw, 43, has two children, Ellen, 16, attending Wakefield and Warren, 12, at Oakbridge. He was educated in public schools in the District, where he was born, is a graduate of Harvard College magna cum laude and the Harvard law school.

He is one of the founders and formerly president of Burgundy Farm Country Day School, in which Mrs. Stone has been active.

He belongs to the Wakefield and Oakbridge PTAs, the Citizens Committee for School Improvement, Mental Hygiene Society of Northern Virginia, Arlington Democratic Club, Harvard Law School Association, National Conference of Christians and Jews and the Washington Board of Trade. He is also vice-president and chairman of the schools and scholarship committee of the Harvard Club of Washington.

Mr. Kaul has two children, James 11 and Judith, 9, and is 40. He was born in Storrs, Utah and lived in Berkeley, Calif., Salt Lake (See ABC Picks, Page 2, Please)

ABC ATTRACTS LARGE CROWD — About 700 persons attended the ABC political meeting to select two County Board nominees to oppose AIM last night. Persons were still filing in when the picture was snapped. A total of 589 ballots were cast. David L. Krupsaw and Ralph Kaul were elected on the first ballot. The meeting was held at Wakefield School. (Daily Sun Staff Photo)

Polio Vaccine Release Near

WASHINGTON (AP)—U. S. Surgeon General Leonard A. Scheele vouches for the safety of Salk anti-polio vaccine already used in mass inoculation of schoolchildren — with the exception of two suspected lots made by Cutter Laboratories.

Scheele said last night he has "every confidence" in all supplies released after a Public Health Service doublecheck of manufacturers' safety precautions. He said a further announcement concerning "can be expected soon."

This may indicate when the inoculation program can get back into full swing.

In an earlier statement, Scheele mentioned 56 cases of paralytic polio as having occurred among children injected with Cutter vaccine. He said there was "strong presumptive evidence that there was a cause and effect relationship between the causes of paralytic poliomyelitis and the two lots of Cutter vaccine out of the nine released."

However, he said tests of the Cutter vaccine "continue in progress." And in Berkeley, Calif., the Cutter Laboratories put out a statement saying, "It is our understanding that this is an interim statement and not a final report. . . . The final determination of it is yet to be made by the U. S. Public Health Service."

All Cutter vaccine has been kept out of use for nearly a month, pending the outcome of these tests.

By way of reassurance, Scheele stated, "It appears that the incidence of cases associated with the Cutter vaccine is probably over, although there may be a few widely scattered cases which have not yet been reported."

And in an apparent general reference to the possibility of additional postinoculation cases, Scheele said:

"To the extent that a single injection of vaccine is not fully effective, a few vaccinated children may be expected to develop paralytic poliomyelitis as some did in the 1954 field trial period."

About six million youngsters already have received first shots in a three-shot series, Basil O'Connor, president of The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, said yesterday the foundation expects to be able to get enough vaccine to complete second shots for first and second-graders by June 30.

"If The National Institutes of Health releases it," the foundation is paying for the mass inoculation program.

But left unanswered by Scheele was this big question: "When will enough additional vaccine be cleared to allow the inoculation program to get back into full stride?"

He indicated some action might be fairly close at hand. He spoke of "definitive action soon to be taken by the Public Health Service." And during a TV interview he said, "I hope we can have an additional statement before the week is over."

Civil War Erupts Again In Vietnam

SAIGON (INS)—Full-scale civil war was reported today to have broken out all over southwest Vietnam between the National army and troops of the Hoa Hao sect.

Gen. Tran Van Soai, political head of the sect, was quoted as declaring a "state of war" against the government of U.S.-backed Premier Ngo Dinh Diem.

The Hoa Hao politico-religious group was one of three sects which formed a "united front" against Diem earlier this year.

Diem crushed most of the Binh Xuyen organization during bloody street fighting in Saigon last month. The Binh Xuyen troops which retreated out of the capital were believed to have joined with the Hoa Hao forces under warlord Gen. Baat.

Most of the Cao Dai sect broke with the "front" when the Binh Xuyen, a collection of former river pirates, turned to violence in an effort to oust Diem.

The Roman Catholic Nationalist premier had cut off the subsidies for the sects' private armies and ended their lucrative vice concessions.

Yesterday, Diem rushed 7,000 loyal army troops into the paddy area southwest of the capital to reinforce the units already fighting the Hoa Hao.

There had been unofficial reports that a full-scale civil war might break out this week. The sects were said to be planning a blockade of the capital.

Two bridges over the man waterways in the paddy area were reported blown up during widely scattered clashes between the government forces and troops of the two sects.

Senate Group Studies Veto Of Postal Pay

WASHINGTON (INS)—The Senate Post Office Committee meets today to rush action on a new compromise 8 per cent pay raise for postal workers that will be acceptable to President Eisenhower.

A new start on the pay issue was launched immediately after the Senate upheld Tuesday Mr. Eisenhower's veto of an average 8.8 per cent pay increase for post office employees.

Fifty-four Senators voted to upset the Presidential veto. But 39 Senators backed up the President's action. This meant that those seeking to override the veto fell eight votes short of the two-thirds they needed.

A rousing political fight preceded the showdown. Senate Post Office Chairman Olin D. Johnston (D) S.C., referred to Mr. Eisenhower as "that poor, misguided, confused man in the White House."

But once the shouting was over and the vote was in, pledges of cooperation arched the two sides of the political aisle.

Johnston and Sen. Frank Carlson (R) Kan., ranking GOP member of the Post Office Committee, each introduced new, somewhat similar pay bills. Both provided about an average 8 per cent postal pay hike, with a 6 per cent floor retroactive to March 1.

Their main difference was in details of job reclassification, with Carlson's bill paralleling administration recommendations. He said Mr. Eisenhower would sign his bill.

Johnston said he would "be glad" to cooperate with Carlson and indicated the two might agree to a compromise between their two measures.

Carlson said, "I feel sure there will be no difficulty between the majority and minority in the committee and I am sure we can get some action."

Big 4 Talks Clouded

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON (AP)—The State Department is awaiting an official note from Moscow before deciding what is Russia's real approach to arranging a top-level Big Four conference.

Meanwhile, it is becoming clear that great difficulties lie in the way of solving major problems with the Soviets. Even what kind of Big Four meeting appears to be in dispute.

The Western Powers' two weeks ago invited Russia to join in the session, which would bring together President Eisenhower and the Premiers of Russia, Britain and France. A definite Soviet reply was expected by this time.

But over the weekend the Communist newspaper Pravda sharply attacked the idea that the meeting should last only about three days, as the West has proposed. The Russians said that was not long enough to deal with problems of substance.

The nature of the problems themselves is becoming plainer and hope of quick progress is waning somewhat.

The Soviet, for example, have attacked Dulles and Eisenhower for broaching the idea of discussing the Soviet satellite states in Eastern Europe.

On the other hand, the Soviets recently advocated a kind of unarmed neutrality for Germany. Dulles rejected at his news conference yesterday any policy of neutrality for that country, whose Western portion is now allied with the Western Powers.

Asked what he thought about neutrality for states to the east of Germany—such satellites as Poland and Czechoslovakia—he said, "Anything which increases the national independence of satellite states is along the lines of United States policy."

Dulles emphasized several times a Western stand that the proposed Big Four conference should not try to find solutions for any of the problems. Its task, he said, is to "open up new paths" toward their solution which may require years to develop.

Campbell, Cox Will Not Run

Two members of the School Board whose terms expire this year said they would not seek reelection in lieu of the qualifications of candidates who will run.

The Board members, Mrs. Elizabeth Campbell, chairman, and Warren Cox, had previously indicated they did not want to run again.

Two new candidates to appear in the balloting at the School Board Nominating Convention at Wakefield High School on June 8 and 9 will be John Donald Motz, a 46-year old Agriculture Department employee, and Mrs. Lois B. Kane, a 33-year old housewife, who both filed yesterday.

James G. Stockard, president of the County Council of Parent-Teacher Associations became the first to file last Wednesday.

Barnard Joy, the other School Board member whose term expires this year has not yet announced whether he intends to seek reelection in spite of repeated requests by the Planning Council for him to take a stand.

Mr. Cox said yesterday that "in view of the fact there have been several good candidates who have announced their intention to run,

I have decided not to seek another term."

Mrs. Campbell stated that she was glad that Mrs. Kane had announced. In signifying previously that she did not want to run again she had stated that only if the Nominating Convention was unable to find a suitable woman candidate would she change her mind.

Yesterday she praised Mrs. Kane, terming her a "wonderful" candidate. She said she definitely would not seek re-election now.

Mr. Motz is deputy assistant for management of the Foreign Agriculture Service of the Department of Agriculture. He is married and has two boys and lives at 612 S. George Mason Drive.

Mrs. Kane is a former president of the Fairlington Parent-Teacher Association and was formerly employed by the Office of Price Administration. One of her children now attends Fairlington Elementary School.

The Nominating Convention will be opposed by the Arlington Independent Movement for the three seats on the Board. AIM will also oppose the liberal ABC in the race for two seats on the County Board.

Chiefs Of State May Open Meeting July 18

PARIS (INS)—French Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay said today that the Big Four Chiefs of State meeting might occur July 18-21.

The statement came after a French Cabinet meeting and a conference between Pinay and U. S. Ambassador C. Douglas Dillon.

Pinay said he had learned from U. S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles that these dates were acceptable to the American government for the projected meeting of President Eisenhower, British Prime Minister Sir Anthony Eden, French Premier Edgar Faure and Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin.

Storm Kills 3 At Ball Game

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—A man and two boys were killed by a falling concrete wall in a windstorm during a game at Augusta's South Atlantic League baseball stadium last night.

Buried under a mass of debris, Wee Bennett, about 25, was dead when rescuers reached him. David Thomas, about 12, and Sam Madison, about 13, were dug out alive but died in a hospital.

The storm, with winds up to 60 miles an hour, struck during the fifth inning of a game between Augusta and Montgomery.

A 100-foot section of the wall collapsed. Bennett and the boys were outside the park. They apparently were standing against the wall to seek shelter from the wind.

The game was stopped immediately and players joined spectators in rescue efforts.

Siamese Twin Dies After Separation

NEW ORLEANS (INS)—An infant Siamese twin lay near death today in New Orleans Charity Hospital following separation from his sister, who died on the operating table.

The twins, who were joined at the abdomen and pelvis, were born Monday night in Gulfport, Miss., to Mr. and Mrs. Leance Duckworth.

They were taken to Charity Hospital for separation yesterday and one died during the three-hour operation.

Dr. W. T. Newson said the second child had little chance of surviving but that she was doing "fairly well, considering."

The 20-year-old mother was reported in good condition. The couple has one other child, a girl, 18 months.

Spain Ousts U. S. Baker

MADRID (INS)—A New York baer, jailed for 11 weeks on charges of insulting Spanish Chief of State Francisco Franco, was on his way to France today at the request of the Spanish government.

Angelo Elardo was arrested in a Madrid boarding house last March 3. He was paroled last Wednesday after the U. S. Embassy intervened. Elardo left Madrid last night.

'Voters' Quiz Mrs. Stone On Integration; Wesley Cooper Wants Warning Tickets

By BOB SANDIN

The controversial subject of the Supreme Court decision on segregation popped out into the open before the Organized Women Voters of Arlington yesterday when incumbent Delegate Mrs. Kathryn H. Stone was questioned about her views on the issue since two of her children attend a private school in Fairfax County which has permitted limited integration in its classes.

The queries were fired at Mrs. Stone at the close of a meeting at Hogate's yesterday afternoon in which candidates for the State Delegates and County Court Judge races in the Democratic Primary, talked on the coming campaigns.

Mrs. Stone was cut short on her replies when the chairman called a halt to proceedings, declaring that the discussions had already been discontinued. Mrs. Stone later told reporters that she felt that the episode "was superfluous to the Supreme Court decision," and said, "I am sorry it has been made a political football. It is not something to be debated as if it could be revoked."

Mrs. Stone said the school in question is the Burgundy Farms school in Fairfax County which is a private institution for children from the kindergarten to seventh grades. She said two of her children are presently attending the Burgundy School, while another is in the Arlington County public schools. Mrs. Stone noted that there were relatively few colored students who go to Burgundy Farms. The total enrollment is somewhere in the neighborhood of 150 students, she said.

Mrs. Stone noted for the record that she personally favors free public schools and compulsory attendance, and pointed out that before the meeting was brought to its hasty conclusion, she had just finished quoting the stand for segregation made by Virginia Lieutenant Governor Stephens.

Mrs. Stone had addressed her earlier remarks toward advocating "See 'Voters', Page 2, Please)
