Idaho Proclaims Day of Mourning For Senator Borah

Body Will Lie in State In Rotunda of Capitol At Boise Thursday

A train that had curved all night through the Eastern mountains was rumbling across the flat plains of the Midwest today, bearing Senator William E. Borah back for the last time to his home in the West.

Washington said farewell to the "Lion of Idaho" last night as the Senator's body was borne from the Senate chamber where he had stood as a giant for 33 years.

The gray coffin was placed aboard a train at Union Station, bound for Boise, Idaho, where final services will be held at the State capitol on Thursday. That will be a day of mourning for the State, proclaimed by Gov. C. A. Bottolfsen.

Mrs. Borah, Miss Cora Rubin—the Senator's secretary for 30 years—and 10 of his senatorial colleagues were aboard the funeral train. At Omaha a special seven-car train will be made up and is due to reach Boise at 7:15 a.m. Thursday.

Body Will Lie in State.

The body will lie in state in the capitol rotunda from 10 a.m. until the services are held at 3 p.m. The only speaker at the simple services will be the Rev. Frank A. Rhea, dean of St. Michael's Episcopal Cathedral in Boise. Burial will follow in Morris Hill Cemetery.

President Roosevelt and the highest officers of the Nation gathered with foreign diplomats around the Senator's coffin in the well of the Senate chamber yesterday afternoon to pay a final touching tribute to the 74-year-old dean of the Upper House.

Many a Senator brushed tears from his eye and some lingered behind when the services were over to gaze at the coffin, buried under layers of flowers.

Senator Carter Glass, one of the Idaho Statesman's oldest friends, returned after the chamber had been cleared still weeping. He stood looking at the brilliant bank of flowers and finally asked Leslie Biffle, majority clerk, if he might have one. Mr. Biffle gave him a single red rose, which Senator Glass carried away with him.

Ceremony Is Simple.

The ceremony was simple, staged against a background of grandeur. Mrs. Henrietta Bagger Plum, Washington singer, opened the service with the hymn, "Lead, Kindly Light."

"I am the resurrection and the life, saith the Lord," began the Rev. James Shera Montgomery, the House chaplain. The Senate chaplain, the Rev. Ze Barney Phillips, then read a lesson from the 14th Chapter of St. John and the 8th Chapter of Romans.

Another song by Mrs. Plum, "Abide With Me," and a prayer, including a supplication for Mrs. Borah and the late Senator, concluded the service. The Rev. Dr. Phillips raised his hand over the casket in blessing.

President Roosevelt, his face showing deep sorrow, sat with folded hands, directly in front of the casket. Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes, members of the Supreme Court and the cabinet were ranged on either side.

Many Diplomats Present.

The representatives of foreign countries, who had seen the mighty will of Senatotr Borah change the course of events in many parts of the world, attended in numbers unprecedented.

Mrs. Bora hsat in a Senate lobby out of sight, and on the floor of the chamber were ranged the grief-stricken men of the House and Senate. Vice President Garner and Speaker Bankhead presided, sitting together above the billowing tiers of flowers which included floral tributes from the President and scores of others, down to a 16-year-old admirer who sent a small potted flower.

Mrs. Roosevelt sat apart from the throng and appeared to be weeping as she left the diplomatic gallery. When the services were over, the chamber was cleared and two policemen stood guard over the casket until it was carried out to be put on the train at 6:10 p.m.

The Senators who accompanied the body were Lodge of Massachusetts, Austin of Vermont, Nye of North Dakota, Vandenberg of Michigan, and White of Maine, Republicans; Clark of Idaho, Pittman of Nevada, O'Mahoney of Wyoming, Burke of Nebraska and Minton of Indiana, Democrats.

Earl Venable, executive secretary of the Republican Congressional Committee, accompanied the Borah funeral party to Idaho at the request of Mrs. Borah. Mr. Venable was for 12 years Senator Borah's secretary, coming to Washington with him in 1907.

'.30-.30 Jack', Colorful Figure Of Alaska, Dies of Cancer

Sister of Takoma Park Learns of Death in Wrangell

JOHN PRATT.

One of the most colorful characters ever to visit Washington—a little man with the imposing nickname, "30-30 Jack"—died yesterday in Alaska, his foster home for 40 years.

His real name was John Pratt. His sister, Mrs. Leona T. Coleman, 204 Cedar street, Takoma Park, Md., received word last night of his death in the hospital at Wrangell, a little South Alaska town near which he had lived most of those 40 years. Cancer, it was learned, had caused his death.

A year ago in October he came here to visit his sister and brought with him a personality that is not easily forgotten. He was a "sourdough," trapper, fisherman and Government fish warden who had spent 38 years in Canada and Alaska without making a trip "outside," as he called it.

Given Job by Jackson.

One of his friends here is Acting Commissioner of the Bureau of Fisheries Charles E. Jackson, whom he met in 1935 while Mr. Jackson was in Alaska. "30-30 Jack" made his home in a one-room shack on Anan Creek, near Wrangell. The stream is one of the better salmon fishing grounds in Alaska. Mr. Jackson gave him the job of driving off would-be poachers.

They talked a great deal about life, Alaska and things in general. Mr. Jackson drew from him the story of his life. One evening the two were sitting by ".30-.30 Jack's" cabin. The sun was setting behind the mountains in all its Arctic splendor. They were silent a long time. Then Mr. Jackson asked him why he had chosen to live up there like a hermit. ".30-.30 Jack" was looking at the sunset.

"You have your answer there," he said.

Always Carried a Rifle.

John Pratt got his portentious nickname because he always carried a .30-caliber rifle. The other "sourdoughs" wore six-shooters. Little of the factual is known about the man despite the wealth of stories connected with his name. Most of the anecdotes are autobiographical. His sister says he was born in the town of Pierre, S. Dak., 56 years ago.

He made his way to Alaska, where he became by turn nearly everything a man can become in that country. He operated one of the first halibut fleets in Alaskan waters, shot bear for the shako coats of the Russian Army, made and lost small fortunes in gold and wound up fishing, trapping and reading the Classics on Anan Creek.

In later years he became a sought-after figure. Visitors to Anan Creek made a celebrity of him. Many sportsmen and members of the moving picture industry claimed him a friend.

Locher Funeral Rites To Be Held Tomorrow

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. tomorrow at Concordia Lutheran Church for Mrs. Lydia Locher, widow of the Rev. Charles M. Locher, pastor of the church from 1919 to 1924. Mrs. Locher died Saturday in Chicago at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Paul Goebel.

Well known in Washington, Mrs. Locher was active in church affairs during her residence here. For the past several years she had been making her home with her daughter in Chicago. Her husband was president of the Evangelical Synod of America from 1929 to 1934. Besides her daughter, Mrs. Locher leaves a son, the Rev. Rudolph Locher of New York.

Wife Asks Aid in Finding Veteran Missing 7 Months

Mrs. Henry T. Crozier, wife of a World War veteran who has been missing for seven months, today made a public plea for information that might lead to discovery of his whereabouts.

Mr. Crozier.

Mr. Crozier, shell shocked during the war, had left a veterans' hospital at Perry Point, Md., shortly before his disappearance. He was last seen by his 18-year-old daughter, Frances, with whom he dined in a downtown restaurant. On leaving her, Mr. Crozier assured Frances that he would return to their home, 1806 G street N.W., after buying some cigars.

Since his vanishing he has not called for his monthly pension check at the Veterans' Administration, the family stated.

The veteran was described as being 6 feet tall, very thin, brown haired, and with a small scar on his upper lip. He carried a small black leather case containing insurance and Navy discharge papers and driver's permit.

Edwin Carewe, Director, Found Dead in Hollywood

By the Associated Press.

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 23.—Edwin Carewe, 57, the director who megaphoned such stars as Dolores Del Rio, Francis X. Bushman, Gary Cooper and Wallace Beery to motion picture fame, is dead.

A nephew, Winston Platt, found Mr. Carewe dead—of a heart attack, physicians said—in his bedroom yesterday. Mr. Carewe had returned to his modest rooms recently from a hospital, where he had been confined for two months.

Believing he could never succeed with his true name—Jay Fox—he borrowed the name of Carewe from a play character and took his first name from that of his favorite actor, Edwin Booth. He often remarked that his rise to wealth and a prominent position started then.

Mr. Carewe was married three times, twice to the former actress, Mary Akin of Lake Forest, Ill., in 1926 and again in 1929, a year after their divorce. She bore him three children—Sally Ann, Carol Lee and William.

Dies

tee on the floor except Chairman Dies, who is ill at his home in Orange, Tex.

Debate is limited to two hours, after which, it is indicated, the House will adopt it by a large vote.

A charge made yesterday that Representative Dies had associated with a "prominent collaborator" of the Christian Front brought prompt denials from several sources today.

The accusation was placed in the Congressional Record by Representative Hook, Democrat, of Michigan.

Mr. Hook asserted that Mr. Dies had been "taking us for a ride for his own political purposes," and linked his name with Merwin K. Hart of New York, whom he described as a "prominent collaborator" of the Christian Front.

(Seventeen members of the Christian Front have been charged in New York with plotting to overthrow the Government.)

Mr. Dies called Mr. Hook's statement "too ridiculous to justify serious consideration." He said that although he knew Mr. Hart, he never had been associated with him and knew nothing of his having any connection with the Christian Front.

Hart Denies Charges.

Mr. Hart, president of the New York State Economic Council, denied in New York that he was "directly or indirectly connected" with the front," and termed Mr. Hook's assertion "an unmitigated lie."

Mr. Hart said it was true, as Mr. Hook had declared, that Fritz Kuhn and James Wheeler-Hill of the German-American Bund were at a dinner of the New York State Economic Council last December 8. Mr. Dies was the guest of honor.

"Tickets were on public sale," Mr. Hart added, "and unbeknown to the council officers these two and other bund officials attended."

Representative Starnes, Democrat, of Alabama, a Dies Committee member, described Mr. Hook's assertions as "a work of desperation in a last-minute attempt to smear" the group and its chairman.

We Couldn't Write A Better Advertisement Ourselves

We are quoting from one of the hundreds of unsolicited letters received from those The Eberly Plan has served:

"As our family grew up and went away, we had a lot of surplus room which, thanks to The Eberly Plan, has been converted into an apartment which has more than paid for itself in rental."

That is sincere praise, and speaks volumes for the practical ability of The Eberly Plan. It was a rather elaborate job—requiring both ingenuity and skill. And we are proud of the satisfaction which prompted the above letter.

Don't live in a home under conditions time has changed. But let The Eberly Plan make your house over into a MODERN home. Perhaps a little renovizing is all that is needed. Maybe there are rooms that are now in disuse which can be modernized to the trend of the times. Or, as in the case of our correspondent, idle rooms turned into rentable apartments.

Under The Eberly Plan ALL the work, whatever it may be—simple or elaborate—is done by Eberly Plan skilled craftsmen, which has two major advantages—ECONOMY, for it involves only ONE modest overhead—and SATISFACTION, for there is only ONE responsibility—OURS.
